and what have you

by BOB CRAIG

The teachers and students are to be congratulated for their efforts in making a success of the Open House which was held last week in observation of Public School Week here. All of the rooms visited by this writer showed a great deal of work on the part of both the teachers and the students.

I am sure they both deserved the day off Friday. And although the teachers may not consider the day off when they attend a district convention they still were able to get away from the classroom.

I noticed in this week's issue of the Post Dispatch that academic letters were awarded to the Post High School's top 26 students—the top 10 percent scholastically of the student body. Principal T. C. Clark awarded the letter sweaters to the students at a high school assembly.

This is the first year for such awards at Post and there is no way of knowing the long-range effect but it seems to me this would be a great honor to the students receiving them.

It may be too late this year to consider such awards here but I think it would merit some consideration for next year. If there is no school money available for such awards or letters I would imagine that one or more of the civic clubs would consider it a worth while project.

I received a request this week from the manager of the Texas Press Association for my opinion of who the top ten candidates for the U. S. Senate seat are in Jones County . . . I couldn't even come up with the names of ten candidates much less the top ten.

I doubt if there will be over five candidates that will receive enough votes to even consider in Jones County.

My guess, and that's all it is, is that Jim Wright will probably lead the county followed by Bill Blakley. Others in the order that I guessed them to finish are John Tower, Will Wilson, and Maury Maverick.

There seems to be very little talk around town about the election with the exception that the law should be changed so that an election of this type couldn't happen again in that it would be impossible for a man to run for two offices.

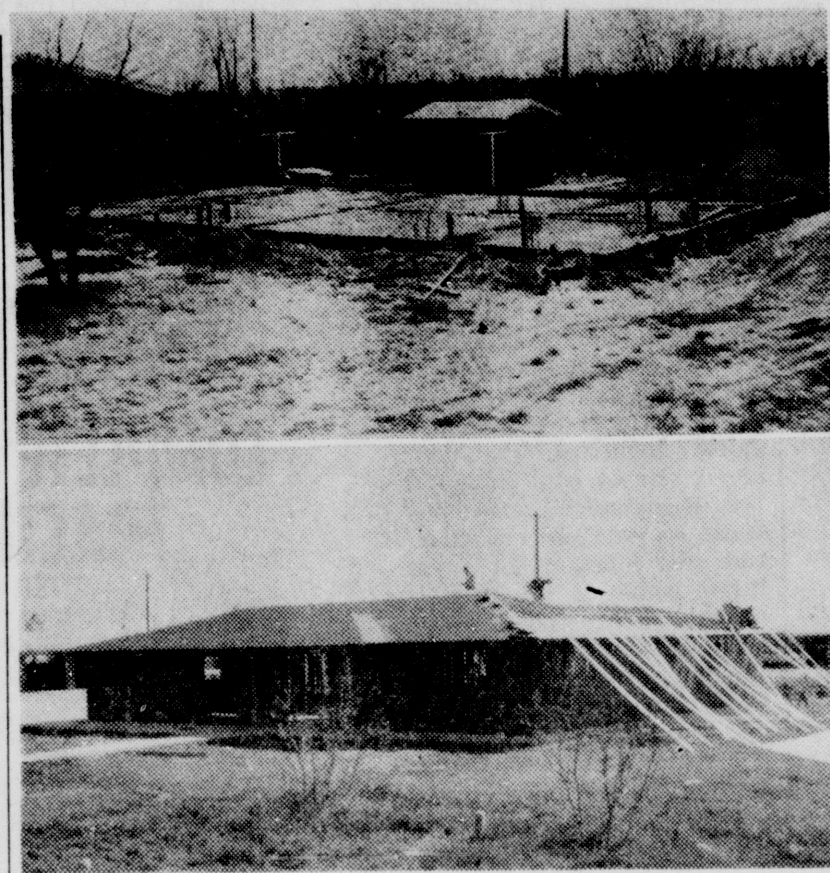

You have to visit the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene, as I had the pleasure of doing Saturday night, to fully appreciate the tremendous value that organization is to this area and the state. The non-profit organization has a plant valued at over $400,000, although through the help of volunteer labor it was constructed at a cost of approximately $90,000.

Newsman of this area were invited to view the new hydrotherapy (water treatment) pool and speech educational facilities in advance of the dedication ceremonies planned March 26 when Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest former treasurer of the United States will be the principal speaker.

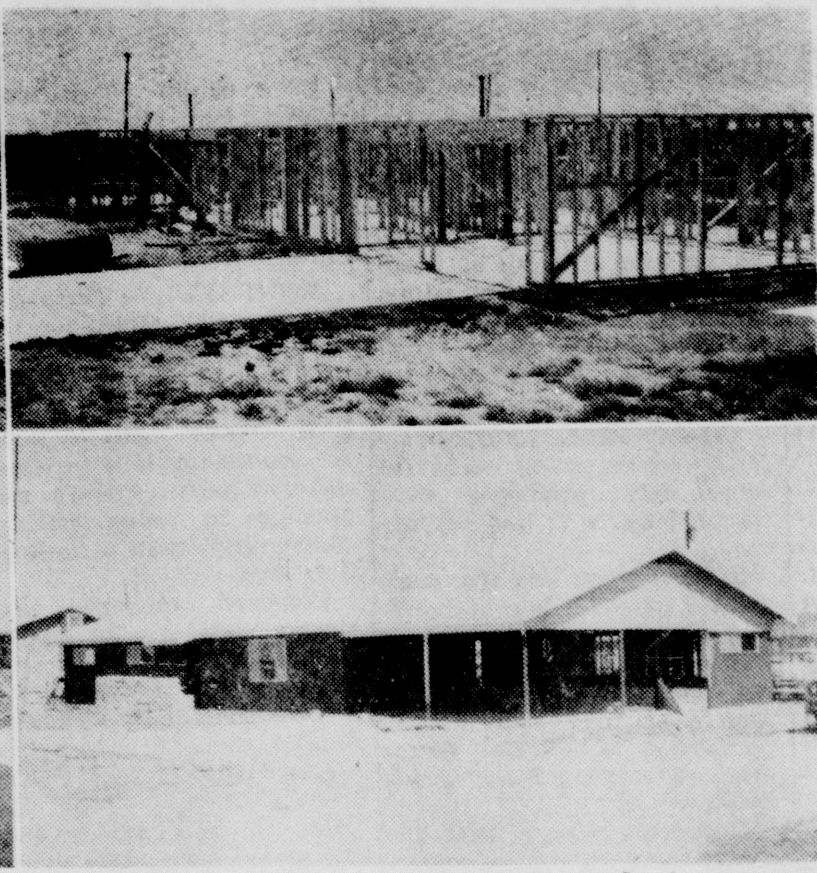

Funds for the hydrotherapy pool came through the Cattle-men's Round-Up which raised most of the $42,000 installation cost. The building housing the pool is decorated on the outside with the brands of every rancher who donated one or more animals to the Round-Up.

The Center operates on a budget of $80,000 a year with about $28,000 coming from the Abilene United Fund, $12,000 from Easter Seals and the balance is obtained from gifts and contributions of area donors.

Bob Kennedy, member of the center board of directors and chairman of the public relations committee pointed out to the visiting newsmen that the center has never received any support from the government-national, state or local.

BUILDING PICKING UP — With the coming of spring and milder weather the construction of new homes is on the increase in Hamlin. Records at the City Hall reveal that building permits have been issued for repairs and construction totalling $48,225 since the first of the year. This does not include work done outside the city limits. In the picture in the upper left corner is a house being built by Nobel Greer. In the upper right is the Floyd Clifton home, lower left is the First Baptist Church parsonage and the lower right is J. E. McCoy home. Also under construction but not pictured is a home by B & N Construction Company. They also have approval for a second house.

There was a little excitement Monday when a sonic boom was heard in Hamlin just as the fire siren began to blow and the fire trucks rushed through town. PRE-EASTER SERIES—

EASTER SEASON MARKED BY MANY LEGENDARY SYMBOLS

Editor's note: This is the second in a series of pre-Easter articles released by the World Book Encyclopedia.

The Symbols of Easter
It wouldn't be Easter without baskets of brightly colored eggs, but how did they come to be associated with the great holiday of the resurrection?

World Book Encyclopedia's religion editor, Mrs. Francine Klagsbrun, reports that eggs represent the new life that begins in the spring about Easter. The ancient Persians believed that the earth had hatched from a giant egg. Persians and Egyptians used to exchange colored eggs with their friends. Early Christians adapted the custom of coloring eggs on Easter.

Some legends credit the Easter bunny with bringing the eggs. The rabbit, too, is an old symbol of birth and new life. Moreover, the rabbit, or the hare, has long been associated with the moon. It may have become an Easter symbol because the moon determines the date of the holiday.

Lighting candles at Easter was a custom in Rome back in the 200's. One Church father declared that "on the night of the resurrection no one should sleep and everyone should have a light, for on George Poe was elected president at the session attended by fathers and sons. Floyd Clifton was elected vice president, W. T. Johnson was re-elected treasurer and Bill Foster was named secretary and player agent. Poe, who served as vice president last year, succeeds Dr. M. L. Smith.

The Pee-Wee League, for boys eight and nine years old, will be under the direction of Gus Webb and Howard Smith. The four Little League teams and their managers are: Braves—Milton Davis; Cardinals—Sonny Holzmann, assisted by L. R. Browning; Giants—Buddy Wells, assisted by Harold Wells; and Yankees—Prentice Holland, assisted by Callens George.

Committeemen named were: Finance, Johnson, Ed Duncan and Bob Graig; Grounds, Johnny Hester; Announcer—score keeper, Sam Ferguson; Concessions, Mrs. Andy Bundas.

The need for new uniforms for the four teams and additional lights was brought out at a meeting. The additional lights would be needed to enable Hamlin to host a play-off game. The present lighting system is not up to the standards set by the association.

Between 145 and 160 boys took part in the program this past year with as many or more expected to play again this year.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — After hours of fiercely critical debate, the House voted by a surprising 149-to-1 to attack the state's fiscal problems by working first to retire the deficit as an emergency matter.

"This is the approach advocated by Gov. Price Daniel and Speaker of the House James Turman. Several who spoke against the deficit-reducing resolution voted for it.

Agreeing to retire the deficit, however, is not the same as agreeing on how to do it. Some new measures, big and broad, have been introduced.

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola has submitted an omnibus tax measure which he says will bring in $293,000,000 over a two-year period. It is backed by Governor Daniel. Hinson's bill includes levies on natural gas pipelines, power-driven objects and parts, utilities, stock transfers, jewelry and watches, construction materials, soft drinks, beer, wine, liquor, restaurant meals.

According to the governor's office, the bill would provide revenue for an $800 a year teacher pay raise and other spending but is not aimed at wiping out the deficit.

Reps. John Allen of Longview and Forrest A. Harding of San Angelo are proposing an even bigger one. It is a 2 per cent general sales tax to raise an estimated $317,000,000.

Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas has introduced, as promised, his name to be placed on the ballot along with W. C. Eoff in the voting to name two trustees to the board for the Hamlin Consolidated Independent School District - - - O. D. (Doyle) Woody has announced his candidacy for the office of sheriff of Jones County - - - Fred Roy Stovall, former resident of Hamlin, dies of a heart attack - - - Cliff Butler has purchased the Conoco service station formerly owned by Kelly Scott - - - Fire damaged the fence and barn of Mrs. Thomas Ferguson in west Hamlin.

his "Texas broad-based excise tax."

It is not called a sales tax, but, in the language of the bill, imposes "upon each separate sale at retail of tangible personal property within this state an excise tax of 2 per cent. It has a long list of exemptions, including some already-taxed items.

CO-OP BILL KILLED — REA electric co-op hopes for more city privileges were tumbled by a 77-to-64 House vote.

Several years ago the Legislature passed a law authorizing co-ops to continue to serve the same customers when co-op area is annexed by a city. This year the co-ops sought permission to add new customers to existing lines in annexed areas.

Opponents charged that this would put a government-subsidized operation in competition with private enterprise. Spokesmen for private utilities declared they have to pay 27.4 per cent of their income in taxes compared to 1.6 per cent for the co-ops.

Co-op leaders say that, after taking electricity to areas the private companies wouldn't serve, they are now in a life-or-death struggle.

ANNEXING CURB PASSED No longer would Texas cities be able to reach out and annex "all out of doors" under a bill passed 139-to-5 by the House.

It provides that cities would be encircled by a zone in which they would have control of building and sanitation codes, but would not have taxing powers. A portion of this zone could be annexed each year.

Also cities would be required to get city utilities to an annexed area within three years.

LOAN LAW SOUGHT-House Banking Committee is engaged in one of the sessions, toughest and most difficult tasks—hammering out new regulations for the small loan industry.

A constitutional amendment voted by the people last Nov. removed the blanket prohibition against interest of more than 10 per cent and gave the Legislature authority to set interest rates and regulate the loan industry.

Five bills are under study. In general they provide for a maximum charge of 3 per cent per month on loans under $100, less for larger loans. Whether credit insurance should be included in Maximum charges allowed is one of the questions at issue.

NEW INSURANCE RATE BILL -- As a new approach to auto insurance rates Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo has introduced a bill to require legislative approval of State Board of Insurance orders.

Hazlewood said his first approach a bill directing the board to make certain changes in the present auto rate plan, had been "bottled up."

On the other side of the Capitol, the House Insurance Committee voted out favorably a "flexible rating" bill that would take away from the Insurance Board authority to set auto rates.

A few days earlier, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson issued an opinion that, under present law, only the State Board, not the companies, can set these rates.

Prior to his resignation as chairman of the State Insurance Board, Penn J. Jackson had suggested letting individual companies set up their own merit rating plans on an optional basis.

MOUTHFUL -- Texas A&M College exes, famed for their fierce defense of the school's traditions have a problem.

Sen. W. T. Moore and Rep. B. H. Dewey, both of Bryan, are sponsoring bills to change A&M's name. There's more prestige in being called a "university" than a "college," they say.

Proposed measure would change name to Texas State University and Agriculture and Mechanical College, with a view eventually to making it just Texas State University.

LAST MINUTE FLOOD -- Passage of the 60-day midpoint in this session ended the period when bills may be introduced without special consent. A flood of new bills came in under the wire. Among them are measures that would: allow voters to put an "X" by the name of the person they wish to vote for instead of scratching all others on the ballot; provide for a 10 per cent merit pay raise for teachers to be awarded by local districts and financed 50-50 by state and districts; provide penalties for law enforcement officers who come out of "ambush" to arrest motorists; require children entering the first grade in public schools to have polo shots; increase workmen's compensation insurance benefits to a maximum of $50 per week.

REPORT FROM AUSTIN...

By REP. LEON THURMAN

This completes another week of the legislative session with controversies each day on the calendar.

This week the main bill was H. B. 2, which is commonly called the R. E. A. bill. On a motion to table this bill, the vote was 77-64. We voted with the R. E. A. not to table the bill, but to keep it before the House, and we lost our vote.

Today there will be an attempt made on a resolution by Ballman to pledge the members to take care of the deficit before passing any tax bills. Some members feel that the deficit, along with the spending bill, should be included in the tax bill. We are not against taking care of the deficit before a tax bill is passed, and we are not against including the deficit and spending bill in one tax bill. It has to be done one of these ways. Our objection is that the Speaker let a resolution come to the floor and request the members to vote on it when it has no effect on the future vote. It seems that this is an attempt to further divide the House. People cannot commit themselves before they see the tax bill.

The floor fight next week will be on H. B. 19, which is a so-called flexible rating plan. Our insurance rates need to be changed, but at the same time, we need some board or commission which

At the present time, the horse racing bill is very quiet, and it is our hopes that it will stay right where it is and not be brought to the floor. Of course, the proponent of this bill has been very active in mustering support to get a vote on his bill. It is our intention to oppose the legalization of pari mutuel betting in Texas.

CANOPY MOOD—A full-size day bed is used lengthwise with a canopy supported by four steel poles in this bed-sitting room by Ellen Lehman McCluskey, A.I.D. The bed and canopy feature a refreshing rose floral stripe in tones of claret, green, and white printed on 100 percent cotton fabric. Throw cushions, curtains, and other upholstery use the same fabric, which appears again on the walls as wall covering to complete the unity of the room.

EXTRA ROOM—What to do with that small extra room is a question often asked of designers. David Eugene Bell, A.I.D., has effectively solved the problem in this small nine-by-sixteen-foot space. Using red and white cotton toile on walls, windows, day bed, and a chair, Mr. Bell has given the room a warm and intimate charm.

DRAWING BOARD CANOPIES—The increased use of canopies to bring novel touches to bedrooms and living rooms is reflected in these renderings by John Fitzgibbons of Yale R. Burge Interiors. Interior designers are using cotton fabrics in canopies because of the wide range of brilliant colors and prints and for their ease-of-care features.

DOLLARS AND SENSE

Mary Y. Newberry, Jones Co. Home Dem. Agent
WHAT'S IN THE PICTURE FOR 1961?

1. Outlook for housing is taking on a rosier hue with mortgage money easier to come by. Competition is forcing builders to incorporate more ideas to make homes more marketable.

2. New developments in furniture materials and finishes are making it possible to have economical, attractive and durable furniture.

3. A slump in the equipment market is forcing manufacturers to come up with new convenience features.

4. The clothing outlook is for slightly higher prices in 1961. There will be a greater variety to choose from. Imported blending of manmade and natural fibers will offer more durable, more comfortable, clothing that will be more easily cared for.

GUIDE TO GOOD BUYING.
1. As you shop, take time to become more acquainted with new foods and to compare them with foods of similar kinds which you have been accustomed to using. Some may be superior to foods which have been standards on your grocery list.

2. Many foods of the same kind are available fresh and in several processed forms—canned, dried and frozen. All forms of the same kinds of foods are about equal in nutritive value if they are processed, stored and prepared correctly.

Decide which is most important to you, time, money or energy and buy the one that can do the most for you.

3. In choosing the quality of food to buy, it is important to know and recognize the visible characteristics of quality and to buy the quality suited to the way in which food will be used. Visible characteristics of quality are color, shape and freshness.

BUY POINTS FOR FROZEN FOODS

1. Look for foods that are stored in cabinets that are clean and orderly. Temperature indicators should show 0 degrees or below.

2. Choose packages that are clean, in good condition and that are frozen hard. Frost or ice crystals inside or outside the package may indicate that the temperature is not low enough or has fluctuated in the frozen food cabinet. (Fish may be frozen with an overglaze of ice)

3. Buy only the quantity you can use within a few days or can store at 0 degrees F or below.

4. Ask for insulated bags in the store for use in keeping food frozen while transporting it home. Take the food home and store it as promptly as possible.

5. Store commercially frozen foods in their original packages. Self-service packaged fresh foods should be re-wrapped in moisture proof and odor proof wrappings.

GENERAL GUIDES FOR REFRIGERATOR STORAGE

1. Remove market wrapping paper from fresh meat, poultry and fish. Store unwrapped or loosely wrapped, in moisture proof paper in the coldest part of refrigerator.

2. Wash and trim all vegetables. A little moisture left on vegetables is desirable. Store in moisture proof wrap or a food crisper. Fruits are best when stored unwashed as moisture may make them soggy.

3. Check refrigerator frequently for forgotten items.

4. Take foods from refrigerator just before cooking or serving, and refrigerate leftovers as soon after meals as possible.

vices constantly being offered to the consumer by distant competitors.

Here are pointers from Lee Coffee, extension agronomist, on seed buying. He says planting seed are tagged to protect the farmer. The Texas Seed Act requires that all seed offered for sale at a seed store carry a tag showing the percentage of weed seed and the number of primary and secondary noxious weed seeds per pound. Coffee says it's very expensive to plant weed seed because of the cost of getting them out of a crop. Read the tag and get the best seed available. They are cheapest in the long run, says the agronomist.

Planting seed bought at a bargain price can be very expensive. R. J. Hodges, extension agronomist, advises farmers to buy the best seed available. They are the cheapest in the long run, he added, for better yields and top quality crops are most likely to come from fields planted with the best seed of recommended varieties or hybrids.

The cost of living index in Bolivia jumped 15 fold between 1945 and 1955 in Paraguay over the same period, the increase was 30 fold.

LOCAL BUSINESS

S. S. Talbert, Ph. D.
Chairman, Dept. of Journalism
University of Mississippi

In every state, in nearly every country, of the United States are small towns in which former business areas have become ghost streets.

The scene is a common one: store windows boarded over; former banks used for storage; dust gathering on empty benches on the sidewalks. Yet in many of these towns there are more people than ever.

The movement of trade came about as a result of better highways, faster automobiles, and poor promotion by the local merchants. The movement has been largely from villages to county seats and other small cities, which had the benefit of newspaper publicity.

But what about the future? Will super-highways, air-planes, and still faster automobiles begin to sap the commercial activity of the county seats and other flourishing small centers of trade? Not necessarily so.

The local merchants hold many advantages over the distant competitors. The local consumers will remain loyal IF he thinks he will get a fair price at home. He will remain loyal IF he knows he can find the variety he seeks at home. He will remain loyal IF he realizes how much he will save in transportation and service cost by trading at home. He will remain loyal IF the local merchant demonstrates that the local store is progressive and up-to-date.

In short, every IF concerning the future of the small city merchant depends upon his use of advertising to keep the local consumer interested and informed on the ever-changing goods and ser-

FAIRVIEW NEWS--

By MRS. ELMER JOINER

After all the rain, snow, sleet, and winter weather, this part of Texas has reverted back to its natural type of weather, for this time of year, that is a sand storm almost every day. But since the ground has so much moisture and the farmers are getting their farms plowed, the sand won't be much of a problem this year.

The dry, warm days are just what the wheat needed and it really looks promising at this time.

Visitors in Sunday School were: Mr. Delbert Barron and two sons of Borg-er and Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Jones from Stamford, Mr. and Mrs. Jones were members of our church many years ago.

The W.M.U. met Tuesday afternoon with six ladies present. The prayer chairman, Mrs. John Beauchamp, had charge of the program, which was the week of prayer. The whole week program was covered as well as could be done in one afternoon.

We are glad to report that Mr. George Waincott is feeling quite a lot better, after having been in and out of the hospital several times the past few weeks.

Mr. Waincott's son, Wel-don, who lives in Gary, Indi-ana, has been visiting them the past week.

Last Tuesday the Waincotts also had Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Waincott and children of Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. David Higgins and boys of Abilene, as visitors.

Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Jones had their sons and families for supper guests. They are Mr. and Mrs. Rex Jones and Mark of Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones, Billy, Randy and Jimmy of Sweetwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright and Mrs. Flavel Holmes went to Dallas Friday for Mrs. Wright's regular checkup at the Baylor Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ford and Diane spent Tuesday in Abilene at the auction sale.

Mrs. Fred Rosenbaum and Mrs. Winson Gray visited with the Fletchers Tuesday afternoon. They reported them as feeling much better, after being ill several weeks ago. They are both past ninety but they are both much younger than that in looks and spirit too. Their friends are all glad to hear of their recovery.

Miss Della Drake still isn't feeling well, although she is improved. She had a birthday last Tuesday, several of her friends came to see her and called her on the telephone to wish her a Happy Birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Barron and sons spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Greenway. The Barrons are residents of Borg.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ford and girls of Abilene ate dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ford Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright and Melinda ate dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Flavel Holmes Sunday.

Mrs. Jack Wicker and Suzanne spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. Woodrow Goodwin and Linda.

Mrs. E. A. Henry had as visitors Thursday afternoon her two sisters, Mrs. Jim Nor-mar of Rule, and Mrs. Obie Wright of Rotan.

Mr. and Mrs. Winson Gray visited with the Woodrow Goodwins Sunday afternoon.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

BEATNIK LETTER HAS HER BAFLED

Dear Amy:

I received the following letter from an old boyfriend. After failing to decipher it, I showed it to my parents. They nearly split their sides laughing but couldn't help. Please, Amy, can you?

Dear Kathy:

"Since I split, I broke with the cats at schoolville and I was wondering what's on the wire with the old gang?"

"Like endsville in March, I'm making it to my Aunt's pad for a ginchy two days and I thought we could get something going like on Saturday night."

"Clue me in on the latest skis and I hope you're all freestyle for the 25th."

"Bob"

Dear Kathy:

With the assistance of a 'beatnik' friend (equipped with goatee) the following is what we come up with:

Dear Kathy:

"Since I moved, I've been out of touch with the crowd at school and I was wondering what's new in the old neighborhood?"

"I plan to spend a weekend at my Aunt's house the last week in March and I was hoping you and I could get together on Saturday night."

"Write me all the news and I hope you are available for the 25th."

Dear Amy:

No one I have asked knows the answers to these questions and I was wondering if you do.

I have been going with a man for 6 years. I have been single for 18 years. He is 54 and I'm 51. We have just found out that we are related. My grandfather and his grandfather were brothers. How are we related or what are we to each other? Is it lawful for us to marry, Amy?

E. S.

Dear E. S.:

Your relationship to each other is that of second cousins. And if you want to further the family ties by marriage, it is lawful!

Dear Amy:

After reading the letter in your column from the woman signed 'Worried', I just couldn't resist telling her how I handled my husband when I found out what was going on behind my back.

I, too, was taken for a work-horse. I cleaned the house, washed and ironed, cooked his dinner every night and also held down a job making good money. I was in love with my husband and thought I was the only one he loved until he began to act strange. He went to work early, came home late and kept all of his pay. Then he made excuses to stay away one night a week. I finally wised up and hired a detective! He was going with a woman who lived six blocks from our home. She worked where he did. Her husband was a Major in the Army overseas. When I found this out, I almost died from shock! Talk about a crash diet, I lost 25 pounds in 30 days. Then I made up my mind to lay down the law. I insisted on his pay check and stopped dishing his hair. He didn't look so dapper to the other woman anymore and besides he was broke, so she dropped him and left town.

There is no fool like an old fool, Amy, he was 57. I am 10 years younger. But I won in the long run and he learned his lesson. No more $2.98 dresses when he wears $80 suits. I've got a closet full of dresses and plenty of shoes. I'm demanding now and he loves it. I don't want to sign my name as you can well understand but you can print this in your next issue.

No Name Please

Dear Amy:

I am a girl 17 years old and have been going with a boy 22 years old for about 6 months. Just recently I have learned that another girl he was going with before he went with me is 6 months pregnant by him. He says he doesn't love this girl and doesn't intend to marry her.

I think a lot of this boy and was intending to marry him myself but since I have found out about this (and I'm sure he still sees her), I am undecided as what to do. Please let me know what you think I should do.

Anxious to Know

Forget you ever knew him!

Dear Anxious:

OLD GLORY NEWS--

By HELEN DIERS

The Old Glory girl's 4-H Club honored their mothers, Truette Hennig, and Mrs. V. R. Leverett at a seated tea on March 12 at 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. Hostesses were the executives of the club: Helen Diers, president; Linda Gholson, Vice-president; Sharon Leverett, Secretary; Billie Vahlenkamp, Treasurer; Landra Baitz, Reporter; Donna Pierce, Song Leader; Nancy Vahlenkamp, assistant song leader; and Carolyn Sanders, Historian.

White and green corsages were pinned on the mothers. The hostesses wore green felt clovers.

Landra Baitz led the motto, pledge, and prayer. Donna Pierce led in singing "4-H Girl" and "4-H Clover". Nancy Vahlenkamp played a solo on the piano. Next on the program was a skit, presented by the hostesses, entitled "4-H Ships." Each girl represented a different ship-fellowship friendship, citizenship, sales-manship, acquaintanceship, stewardship, leadership, sportsmanship, etc. Two other girls helped with the skit—Linda Newman, Stephanie Letz. Helen Diers played a piano solo and next, the hostesses sang "Dream Song" to the accompaniment played by Helen Diers.

Master of Ceremonies, Sharon Leverett, paid a tribute to the mothers and Truette Hennig, county agent. Hennig is to receive a gift later this week from the Old Glory 4-Hers. Helen Diers paid a tribute to Mrs. Leverett and presented her with a gift from the hostesses.

The refreshment table had a green cloth and white net over it. The centerpiece was a mirror with grass and a rabbit with candy eggs. White cake decorated with a 4-H emblem was served with lemon-lime punch or coffee.

The Old Glory tennis players played Clyde at Abilene in some practice sets, Beverly Garner, 8th grader, did very well. Peggy Pringle defeated her opponents. Others who played were Sandy Leverett, Billy Sellers, Remond Pierce, Sharon Leverett, Helen Lovack, and others.

District tennis will be played during the week of April 3-7 on the Hardin-Simmons University courts.

The R. L. Miers farm, 2 1/2 miles northeast of McCaulley, was the "mystery farm" which appeared in the January 26 issue of the Hamlin Herald.

It was identified by Mrs. Ross Gruben of McCaulley but she was unable to receive the six months subscription to the Herald until this next week when Mrs. Miers came to the office and varified the identification.

Mr. and Mrs. Miers became owners of the 230 acre farm in 1946 but they have lived there since 1936. Mr. Miers' father had previously owned the farm, having settled it in 1918. Wheat, oats and row crop are raised on the farm, but cotton is the main product. They also have some mixed cattle, Jerseys and Herefords.

Mr. Miers and the former Sarah Rushing of McCaulley, were married in 1933. They are members of the McCaulley Baptist Church, the Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star. Their hobby, when they have time, is fishing.

WOMEN'S HELP SOLISTED IN FIGHT AGAINST ACCIDENTS

CHICAGO -- Women were called on today to help bolster the nation's fight against traffic accidents.

"Women can help strengthen the national economy by stepping up accident prevention programs in their communities," said Mrs. Raymond Sayre of Ackworth, Iowa, vice president for women for the National Safety Council.

"Motor vehicle accidents cost the nation $6.4 billion in 1960 in injuries, insurance and property damage," said Mrs. Sayre.

Speaking of the Carol Lane Awards for Traffic Safety, which the Council makes each year to women and women's and parents' organizations for outstanding contributions to traffic safety, Mrs. Sayre said that the nation's cost from traffic accidents no doubt would have been higher last year if women's organizations had not initiated and supported traffic safety programs in their communities.

The Carol Lane Awards, established in 1951 by Shell

Oil Co., and named for Shell's women's travel director, are administered by the National Safety Council through a Shell grant. The awards are the only national recognition of women for their work in traffic safety.

Nominations for the current awards program will be accepted by the Council until June 1. Entries will be judged in three categories -- rural areas and cities of less than 25,000 population; cities of 25,000 population or more, and statewide projects.

In each category the awards will be: First place -- a $1,000 Savings Bond and a bronze sculpture symbolizing a woman's protective instinct. Second place -- $500 Savings Bond and a bas-relief plaque of the sculpture.

Third place -- $250 in Savings Bonds and a bas-relief plaque of the sculpture.

In addition, certificates of merit are awarded other outstanding entries.

Any American woman more than 18 years of age who is not employed in traffic safety work, or any women's or parents' group, is eligible for the Carol Lane Awards.

Will Wilson Lists Seven-Point Program for Texas

point in the final month of his campaign for U. S. Senator, Attorney General Will Wilson has called for immediate action to get business in Texas back on the move.

"We must seek new business and new industry -- new pay-rolls," Wilson insists. "This is essential if our high school graduates are to have the same opportunity we had to earn our living in Texas."

Other parts of the Wilson seven-point program call for immediate tax credits for companies making investments in new plants and new machinery, immediate temporary extension of the number of weeks unemployment benefits may be drawn in hardship cases, and immediate stimulation of the agricultural economy by adoption of a farm program "that makes sense."

Wilson also urges protection of the nation's manufacturers and working people from unfair competition of foreign business and keeping the Federal Highway Program on schedule.

Central to his program is the restoration of the Texas oil and gas industry to an expanding basis.

"Every time a drilling rig shuts down, 143 people are out of work," the Attorney General said. "As a result of the slowdown in drilling in West Texas, a foundry in East Texas which makes drilling tools is working only three days a week."

Wilson feels that the surest way to stimulate drilling is to stimulate investments. "And the best investment incentive we have," he declared, "is the depletion allowance."

Strength and imagination are demanded in foreign policy, the Attorney General said. "I want us to move out to meet the challenge of Communism with every diplomatic maneuver we can devise and at the same time exert a constant and increasing pressure against the Russian influence economically and even militarily when necessary."

The largest child ever born, according to medical records, was the 23½ pound, 30 inch long son born in 1897 to seven-foot five tall Novia Scotia mother, Anna Bates.

BY AMY ADAMS

DAUGHTER 'FORGETS' MOTHER'S BIRTHDAY

Dear Amy:
My daughter is married a year and a half and she doesn't get in touch with me or even send me a card on my birthday. I went to see her and she said there was nothing wrong.

What can I do about her?
Heartbroken Mother

Dear Mother:
Unfortunately nothing! A daughter doesn't usually forget her mother's birthday unless she chooses not to remember.

If you have tried to defrost her and can't cut any ice, keep a stiff upper lip, Mother. I'm willing to bet when she needs you, she'll waste no time getting in touch.

Dear Amy:
Just a few lines in regards to the 'hicky marks.' After my husband read all the pros and cons in your editorial, he had decided to compromise. He said he still wants to enjoy a few things while he still has his teeth. He still gives me 'hicky marks' now and then, but they don't show anymore!
Happily Married

Dear Amy:
Kindly tell me what the name 'family' stands for. I have two sons, one I live with, the other is married. When I receive a card or letter addressed.

"Mrs. L. M. S. and Family" does that not include my married son as well as the one I live with? I insist it does, but I get into arguments constantly. I am embarrassed to ask about such a simple question as this.

To settle this everlasting argument, please explain it as plain as a teacher would in the first grade.

Mrs. L. M. S.

Dear Mrs. L. M. S.:
To settle this argument once and for all, a card or letter addressed the way you describe does not include your married son. It is meant only for those members of your family living under your roof . . . and this I have direct from the leading authority on etiquette, Miss Amy Vanderbilt.

Dear Amy:
The 'little girl' next door has separated my husband and me. But not without his help and mine! When we moved here she was a very small child (10 years old). Her dad was 20 years her mother's senior and was unable to work and earn a living. Consequently, this young girl had very little and I thought lots of her and felt sorry for her. I had her over many times and asked her to go places with us. My husband teased her and treated her as he did our own. I was too blind to see what was happening. Now she is 19 and my husband 39.

On Halloween when I was at a party with our four children, he had the gall to bring her into my house . . . in fact my bed! This is the thanks I got for trying to be good to a 'little girl.' (It sure makes you wonder if charity always is advisable.) When I found out, my husband naturally left home. He got a job in another town and now writes, begging forgiveness, and asking that I come with the children to live there with him. Is it possible to forgive and forget? Tell me, please, is a second chance worth a try?

I really don't expect to ever see this in print, but as hope is all I have left, I'll hope this makes it. Undecided

Dear Undecided:
Make no mistake, I do not condone your husband's actions, but from the beginning of time, man has not been immune to the weakness of temptation. His sincere regrets and his genuine desire for a second chance are worth more than a try. Go to him!

Dear Amy:
I want help quick! My boyfriend is 5 years older than I. He has no car so he has to spend the night at my house. He doesn't sleep in the same room or anything. He is very nice and kind, but my dad doesn't like him and has threatened to run him off if he shows up again. How can I get word to him in a hurry not to come over?

Help!

Dear Help:
Telephone, telegraph or tell a friend!

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

Proper care of lures and tackle is a pretty important part of fishing. This is especially true if the fishing is done along the Gulf coast where rust and corrosion is as common as gulls and sand crabs.

Before heading to the salt-water's edge, make certain that your tackle has been properly oiled. A squirt of oil on the reel and then smoothed lightly over its surface often will eliminate a lot of scraping and cleaning later.

Drop some oil on exposed nuts and bolts. Wipe some over the guides too. If you're headed for some Gulf fishing, don't be afraid of drowning your rig in oil. It may get a little messy but it'll protect your equipment. You will be surprised how quick salt water and sun can remove the protective coating.

If you don't care to smear your equipment with oil, get out that old can of all-purpose wax and rub some of it on the outside. Don't use it on the moving parts. Stick to oil for this.

When you've finished with the heavy machinery, dig into your tackle box and drag out those plugs.

If you didn't clean them the last time you plunked them into the salt water, just throw them in the rust pot. If they are new and have yet to feel the effects of salt water, give them a break.

A little wax or oil won't do them a bit of harm. In fact, we suggest you polish up that tackle box itself. You'll not be sorry you did. As you probably know, water runs off a car when it's coated with wax. The same holds true for your favorite tackle container.

Now, when you get to the fishing grounds, whether it be in a boat or on a pier, be careful how you splash the water around. Keep your tackle box closed when not in use. A puddle of salt water in the tray of an open tackle box will change the color of what's in it.

If there's a place to hang the plugs to dry, before placing them back in the proper compartment, string them up. Be extremely careful not to leave them where you, or your fishing partner, can sit or step on them. It's better to drop them in the box wet, if you don't have a safe place to hang them.

Check the points of used hooks. If they're rusty run them over a wetstone or file.

Some fishermen might laugh and say "It would take all my time to follow these simple warnings." Sure it requires some time. But you'll be surprised to learn how much time—and money—it will save you in the long run. When you have caught all the fish you can carry, and are heading home, check the boat or pier to make sure you haven't left your favorite fishing knife lying around.

After a fishing trip is the most important time for preventive maintenance.

If you are staying in a cabin the first thing to do when you return to it is to clean your tackle. This can be done in a number of ways.

How well you clean it depends on when you plan to fish again, whether the following day or the next week. If another trip is in line tomorrow, a quick water bath will do the job for now. This only takes a few minutes.

If there's a shower in the place, toss the whole mess into it and turn on the cold water for five or ten minutes.

If there's no shower available, use the bathtub, the wash basin or the kitchen sink. Run some water over the plugs you have used and any other item that came in contact with the salty water. Then splash some saltless water onto your rods and reels for good measure.

This emergency quick bath may not take all the salt off—but it will dilute it.

When you get home for keeps, wash it off again. This time thoroughly, piece by piece, and throw in some vinegar or a small amount of detergent.

When you have washed everything off, including your tackle box and fishing knife, place everything where it can dry. Don't forget your fishing scales. They'll rust too.

Be careful not to leave your plugs and hooks where Junior can get them.

Now that the tackle has had time to dry, get out that oil and wax again. Go over everything carefully. Otherwise every hook you miss may have to be replaced when you head for the coast again . . . or for an inland lake, for that matter. And remember too, that rust spreads.

These are only a few of the many ways you can extend the life of your fishing tackle. If you have an unlimited tackle budget, forget about it. If you're like me, it'll pay you take care of what you have.

Be Alert for Snakes
Watch out for snakes when in the fields, or wear snake-proof boots. Don't think there are not snakes about just because of the calendar. A warm sun on a cold day often brings out the reptiles.

Also, remember that rattlers don't always rattle before striking. So don't depend on your ears.

Look for moccasins around water and in damp places. Rattlers usually inhabit rocky or timbered country.

Always carry snake-bite kit, to be on the safe side.

Let Rabbits Cool
Never shoot a rabbit or squirrel and stuff the warm carcass immediately into your bag or game pocket.

Ten to one the critter is alive with fleas.

Protect yourself by hanging the game in a tree! As soon as the body cools, the fleas leave it like rats from a sinking ship.

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

To Seal Canned Milk

Campers would often like to reseal the can of condensed milk used as coffee cream. To do so, cut off label, dab with milk, and slap over the openings. When dry, the can is tightly sealed.

Stops Splash of Gas

Ever have gasoline splash violently over the funnel when filling outboard motors, gas lamps, or stoves?

You can prevent this by placing a small piece of steel wool in the funnel.

Keep Canteen Cooler

To insulate your canteen and keep the water much cooler, carefully wrap the canteen with one thickness of tire tape.

The tape makes the canteen easier to handle, yet it will slip in and out of the cover easily.

A Cold Weather Trick

Dawn hunters can, on a cold day, get their legs mighty wet walking through dewy grass. Not only are wet legs uncomfortable, but they're apt to give you a cold.

Next time, before venturing out, slip into a pair of old overalls, the legs of which have sometime previously been coated with house paint or varnish.

Handy Refresher

On a hike, or sitting all day in a deer blind, you can keep up your energy by dissolving in your mouth now and then a pepper-upper made by mixing a teaspoon of instant coffee with a teaspoon of sugar.

Wrap these in twists of waxed paper or foil before leaving home and carry a number of them in your hunting coat or game bag.

Protecting Your Motor

Does your outboard motor get scuffed, scarred, or thrown out of adjustment when carried in your car trunk?

Next time out try laying it on an old inflated inner tube. The inflated rubber absorbs the knocks and scuffs, and preserves the finish.

Easy Way to Probe Shot

Use a very small sharpened screwdriver to probe shot and imbedded feathers out of your game birds.

It does the job better than a knife blade and is easy to carry with you on a hunting trip.

New Use For Tin Shears

Pack a pair of small tin shears in your duffle bag next hunting trip.

They are excellent for chopping off the legs, wings, heads, etc., of any game you might be dressing.

Saves dulling your knife on bones.

"Seasoned" Hunting Clothes

Smoke those new-smelling hunting clothes over a campfire. This will prepare them for the hunting season so they won't scare off game, or get ribald comments from your fellow hunters.

Select Fire Stones With Care

Don't ring a fire, or build a fireplace, with limestone, or other porous rock. Porous stones are liable to explode when overheated.

TELEPHONE BUSINESS OFFICE NOW LOCATED IN TELEPHONE BUILDING

The remodeling of the Telephone Building has been completed and the business office has been moved back to the original location at 115 SW Ave. A will be happy to show you around.

I want to thank everyone for your consideration while the office was in the temporary location and hope you were not inconvenienced by our move.

IMPROVING TELEPHONE SERVICE IN HAMLIN

Today you can reach almost anyone in town or around the country in a matter of seconds . . . by telephone.

If you're curious and want to see what's behind the telephone calls you make and receive, plan to visit our telephone central office real soon. We'll be glad to show you or your club or civic group many of the technical changes in equipment and methods that continue to improve your service. Just call us and let us know when you're coming.

These "behind the scenes" improvements come about in two ways. A great many result from the full-time research carried on by telephone scientists. Other improvements come from ideas of telephone people working right here in Texas.

This teamwork between telephone people on the job and scientists in laboratories makes an unbeatable combination. Our goal is simply this: To give you service this year that's better than last year's.

MORE TIME FOR FAMILY FUN

"How do you find time to get everything done and still have time for your family?" I seem to hear that question come up in conversation more and more lately. Here's how one Kansas family found more time to do the things they enjoyed together:

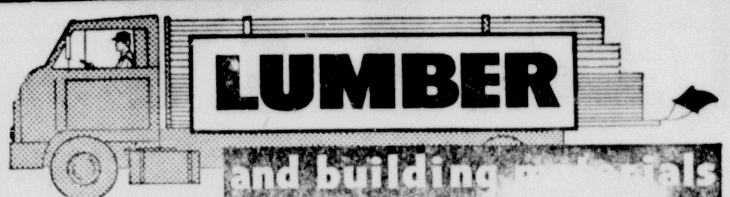

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Padgett of Dodge City have full-time jobs and two active school age children. They find time for bowling, golf, American Legion, PTA and church work in addition to scout and school activities for the children.

How do they manage to keep up with everything? The Padgetts have help . . . two telephones, which they use to save time, trips and energy. Mrs. Padgett says, "I believe we save as much as a day a week in needless trips by telephoning."

Quite a saving. How about you? Could you use your phones to save time for your family? Why not try them and see.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

MAGAZINE EDITORS PREDICT PRICES TO REMAIN STABLE

Spring shoppers can look forward to tempting displays of products and reasonably stable prices, according to the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine. As a result, the editors advise that purchasing plans should be premised on the knowledge that there is neither much to save nor much to lose by putting off shopping for a few months.

In the current issue of the magazine, "The Months Ahead," a regular feature, takes a look at price trends, product changes and innovations in style and fashion.

The editors find that shifts in price up or down will be minor, with the exception of a few items.

Specifically, they note that furniture retailers will offer more sales and promotions to jog lagging business. Style-wise, there is a revival of pure American, to get away from the recent influence of Italian and French Provincial. Contemporary designs will be less severe.

Appliances, the editors continue, will reflect some basic changes in design and appeal. Already available are bigger washers to accommodate big-family needs; higher ranges and ranges with a double-level cooking surface to make cooking chores less of a strain; compact "second" refrigerators to be placed in the recreation room, study, porch or bedroom.

Power mowers may be a little more costly than a year ago, but more of them will offer "self-starters," and a novel development will be a power mower with six speeds.

In the clothing line, the magazine sees a choice for men-- the "All-American" or "British Accent" styles. The former is described as an extension of Ivy-League fashions--two or three - button jackets, notched lapels and, maybe, patch pockets. The British accent will play up belted backs, shorter jackets and knickers for the boys. "You'll see checked rain capes a la Sherlock Holmes and suits in "Britannia blue," according to Changing Times. "Tab collars with fasteners will be seen. Prices; suits up slightly."

The "Jackie look" is the thing for women, the article continues. "Big emphasis on collarless necklines and swirling coats. Hemlines will be higher. Favorite colors will be pastels and brilliant tones. Prices: generally parallel to those of a year ago."

The price picture for a stable cost of living will hold across-the-board from garden supplies and air conditioners to boats, furniture and clothing.

ARE YOUR DEBTS IN BALANCE?

Many a farmer or rancher has his short-term debts completely out of balance with his long-term debts. Good management dictates that he keep his operating or short-term credit in balance with his capital or long-term credit. By doing this he will be able to meet repayments with more ease.

While a Land Bank loan will not reduce your total indebtedness, it has provided the key to a balanced debt load to thousands. Most likely a Land Bank loan is the answer to your credit problem.

Without obligation, come in and let's see how it can be made to help you get your debts in balance.

ADULT MOVIE 'GO NAKED IN THE WORLD' COMING SUNDAY

A triangular relationship between a glamorous woman of the world, a returned war veteran who falls deeply in love with her and the latter's father whom she has known intimately before meeting his son, makes for high-voltage drama in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offering, "Go Naked in the World" opening Sunday at the Rogue Theatre.

Gina Lollobrigida, who has come to represent the epitome of desirable femininity on the screen, is cast as the beautiful and sensuous girl to whom all men are attracted. The male leads are played by Anthony Franciosa, as the returned G. I. resolved to break loose from the dominance of an over-possessive father, and Ernest Borgnine, as the self-made construction tycoon who is equally determined to use his wealth and power to force his son to bow to his will.

Luana Patten, remembered for "Home From the Hill," heads the supporting cast as Franciosa's young sister, with other featured roles filled by Will Kuluva, Phillip Ober, John Kellogg, Nancy R. Pollock and Tracey Roberts.

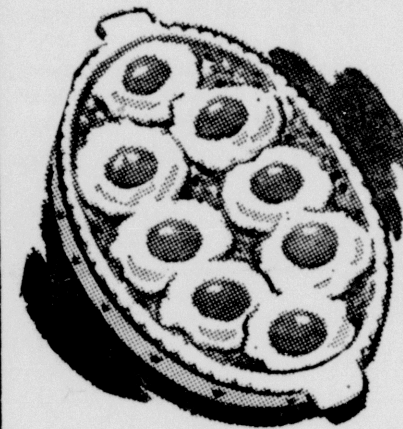

The action of "Go Naked in the World" begins in San Francisco, where the tough and wily Greek immigrant Pete Stratton (Borgnine) has built up his fortune, and to which Nick Stratton (Franciosa) returns from his overseas army service. In an elaborate night club, he meets Julie Cameron (Miss Lollobrigida) who once known is not easily forgotten. Their casual affair ripens into an intense relationship and this girl, who has known many men, finds herself in love against her will. Frightened that her past has forfeited any chance of future happiness with Nick, she attempts to break off the affair. For a time it seems that Nick's outraged father himself will achieve her purpose, but Nick proves impervious to both Julie's feigned indifference and to Pete Stratton's constant pressure which fluctuates between pleas and threats. It is as Acapulco in Mexico, where the two-fold conflict reaches its climax after the arrogant father has humbled himself before the girl he has persecuted, and in the end the story is given a prying emotional turn.

The volume of snow to that of water varies from 1 1/2 to 50--with an average of 7 1/2 or 8.
